StrongHold

INSPECTIONS & PUMPING

Home Inspections

StrongHold Inspections provides its clients with a detailed report on the home they intend to purchase or sell so they are aware of the condition of the property and the need for any major repairs. The inspection covers the major components of the home including, but not limited to the following; structural, electrical, mechanical, and plumbing. The purpose of the inspection is to identify and disclose to the client major deficiencies and defects of the systems and components of the premises, which are visually observable at the time of the inspection. The inspection will consist of only a visual analysis of major systems and components of the property and comment on those that need immediate repair, replacement, or further evaluation by a specialist.

Along with a standard home inspection, we can provide our clients with other major inspection services. Some of the other services offered include but are not limited to a septic/lagoon inspection, water quality tests, and termite and bug inspections.

Septic Tank Pumping

The average single compartment septic tank has baffles that are meant to keep everything but the wastewater that goes into the tank, in the tank. Over time the tank builds up layers of scum on the surface of the wastewater and sludge on the bottom of the tank.

If the tank is not pumped regularly to remove these layers, the scum or sludge could get into the baffles and out of the tank causing a backup into the home or a failure of the lateral field.

Strong Hold Pumping can pump your septic tank for you on a schedule that works for your home and family size to help keep the system functioning properly.

We can also assist you with uncovering the accesses to your septic tank so that it can be inspected or pumped. Then, we can add risers if requested so the tank is always accessible for future maintenance without being excavated again.
